The Committee took note of the notifications submitted by CY, DE, DK, ES, FR, EL, IT, PL, PT, RO, SK and SE.

The Commission recalls that under the provisions of article 8(4) Member States are obliged to inform the Commission and the other Member States immediately after they have granted such a derogation.

In addition, the Commission pointed out that if an MRL (maximum residue level) set under Reg. (EC) No 396/2005 cannot be met and a national MRL is set, nevertheless, a consumer risk assessment has to be carried out and forwarded to the Commission, the European Food Safety Authority and Member States.

Member States are reminded that they shall put in place the necessary risk mitigation measures to ensure acceptable uses for human and animal health and the environment.
